> -TIGER-TALES AND OTHER MATTERS.

(From Our Own Correspondent) .---AMOY, March 30.

There are all sorts of tales about tigers in the hills on the mainland near Amoy just now, and a good deal of interest has been excited among Amoy residents as to how to bag some. But it is easier to beed the tales and go in search than it is to shoot for inches as per Houghong Jockey Club | them for they are roaming beasts and go far afield, moving readily from place to the Foreign Houses, erected on Toa-Bo Hill, the caretaker there, with the help of others and a carefully prepared trap, was able to kill a tiger a few weeks ago, and has brought down the skin, hastily cured in rough Chinese fashion, to sell in Kulaugsu. I have not yet heard whether he has managed to dispose of it. The Chineso reckon to get over $200.00 for a tiger, as no part of the animal is wasted, skin, claws, as well as flesh, all fetch a good

Previous to this it was looking very brown and bare, but the rest, coupled with the heavy rains of a week ago have done wonders for it, and it is looking beautifully green and attractive to the eye. The marvellous recuperative power of common grass is one of the wonders of nature; the more it is trampled upon, the more it strikes its

Some 24 samples of milk from various, milk donlers on Kulangsu were taken without pr meditation on March 3rd, and sent down to Honekong for analysis by the Government Analyst. A report has now 3. been received and printed giving the results. We may feel pleased that the majority of the sampleshave passed muster, and received the imprimatur of the Analyst and the Kulangsu Municipal Council. Only five samples come under condomination, and these belong to only three owners. One man, out of three samples has two con. demned as having too large an amount of added water, and he is fined $125.00, seeing that this is his fourth offence. Another has also two samples condemned out of three, and he is fined $25.00, as it is hisfirst offence. While a third had only one rample condemned out of four, and he also is med $25.00, for the first offence. If the fines are not paid, the dairies will be compulsorily closed by the Council. The punishment may seem severe, but only in this way can the milk dealers becompelled to see the necessity of keeping their supplies o ollm. extin. Penalties accumulative milk up to the mark. It is at least satisf factory to know that 19 samples belonging to eleven different milkmen are declared up to the required standard of excellence, and the whole statement is printed in Chinese and in English and distributed so that all may see. The Health Officer also adds a few words of warning as to the different qualities of milk, and danger from the adding of water indiscriminately from kiny source, not necessarily free from infection. All licensed dairies have a license card attached to the carrier's DR. MOSES CHIE, PIL D.

> We have had in Amoy for some time now a young man who was born in Amoy and educated in the Mission Schools here and in Foochow, who went to England ten years ago for further training. He spent four years there, and passed through one of the Congregational Colleges for the training of Ministers, and then went on to Germany for six years to study Philosophy and Philology, finally taking a high Degree in Philosophy. In fact he is said to be the Brat Chinaman to take the Ph.D. Degree in Gormany., He apeaks both English and German fluently, as well as Mandarin, and he has an appointment in the Government College in Peking for three years as Professor of Philology. He has been revisiting his family, though unfortunately both his parents have died in his absence, but he O has uncles and cousins not a few. While here he has given addresses both in the Loglish Union Church and in several Chinese Churches, and these have been both forceful and lateresting. His great Kropp Razors, desire if to are his knowledge and powers for the good of his country and all his friends wish him every success in his new sphere in the capital,

FESTIVITIES IN THE FATHERLAND.

even the Imporial family has been exempt. While the Kaiser, however, was up and about in very low days her Majesty was confined to hor room for over a week and the Palace for even longer. One of the Court balls was postponed in consequence. but both their Majostios were present at the big Shroye Tuesday ball at the Castle, and loth were looking in excellent health and spirits. Over 1,100 invitations were issued for this fostivity, which has marked the official close of the season. After the dancing was over the traditional doughnuts and hot punch were handed round, which have been the accompaniments of the close of the carnival since the time o Frederick the Great. The Court confectioner supplied the Imperial family with 2,000 doughnuts on this occasion. The Kniser has gone to Wilhelmschaven for a few days to be present at the swearing-in on the naval recruits. In a very short time now their Majestics will go with the Princers Victoria Luise to Corfu, first Mr. Cyrll Maude, one of the finest comedians on the London, cruising about in the Meditterranenn " little. The small sons of the Crown Prince and Princosa will be of the party and the parents will join them before long and spond Easter at the Achilleion Palace on the Island of Corfu. Their Imperial Highnesses will then go on a short visit to Rome where they will represent the Kalse and Kaiserin at the Quirinal. The Kaiser and Kaiserin will be accompanied on their visit to London by the Princess Victoria Luise by special wish of the King and Queen, and I hear the Princess herself is quite delighted at the prospect of seeing England again. Their Imperial Majesties celebrated the 30th anniversary of their wedding day last week. All their children, with the exception of the Crown Prince, were present at the big family dir ner, to which the members of the former and present suites received invitations. The Kaiserin, by her devoted husband express wish, donned almost bridal attire for the occasion-white satin with silver ombroidery and the diamonds which were the Kaiser's gift to her on the wedding day. Her Majesty also were some myrtle sprays in her hair, the bridal flower of the Fatherland.

THE REIGHSTAG.

The Naval and Military Estimates bave been occupying the Reichstog, lately, for number of days. The sums demanded for the maintenance of both army and navy are so great that there is no doubt that there will be more taxation for the already over-burdened German citizen, and this more especially se the eighty million marks intended for the revenue from a colonial, tax will hardly be forthcoming. The Imperial Colonial Office has declared to the Reichstag in a comprehensive memorial that the development of German territory is not such as to warrant taxation, and least of all the South West African' colonies. During the debate on the Military Estimates the Minister of War, Herr von Heeringen gave expression to some sharp words regarding the French Foreign. Legi n, or rather to the lauding of the Legion in a certain portion of the German Press. The French paper took up the matter and hit out sharply, declaring the Prussian Minister's words were an insult to the French army. Ultimately the official organ of the Prussian Government, the Norddentsche Allegemeine Zeitung". made utterance on the subject, declaring the French - Foreign Legion was very largely composed of German deserters and not only the War Minister, but every honest German was indigment that the Legion was so extolled by a part of the Press. The paper reminds the French Press that the manner in which the Legion is recruited has not aroused the sympathics of the civiliscal world. Another prominent Berlin paper "Die Post" goes will further and says the French Foreign Legion is a diagrace to the French nation, and the Prossian War Minister was doing perfectly right to warn Gormana from falling victims to the enticements of the Legion's agents. With reference to the statement made by Ulgh Admiral von Tirpitz to the effect that Germany's object was to keep a fleet o such strength as to render it a risky thing for any other naval Power to attack her, the well-known Pan-German writer Count Reventlow declares in a recent article that the Admiral's words applied solely England. He adds that Gormany's de fensive policy is opposed by an ollensive English prir ciple. The idea of unqualified supremiser on the ocean, the Count goes on to say is quite antiquated, and will, moreover sooner or later, loss any foundation

Fanatogen produces the remarkable results to which there distingulated men attest by being at once a rood and a tould, each of which helps and reinforces the other. ### ALLEGED HARBOUR THIEVING.

The police are just now exercising special vigilence towards the detection of cargo thieving, and some measure of succers is being attained in the work. The atest case reported in or e in which it is believed an attempt was made to steal three bags of floor constituting part of a cargo brought in port by the s.s. Hercules. It appears that a cargo boat had been engaged to deliver the flour to godowns al West Point alter taking it from the Horcules which lay off Stonecutter's. parently the cargo-boat people discharged all but three sacks which they hid in the cabin. This was observed by the native | Gyelops, left Liverpool, March 18. police detectives, and they held up the boat off. Western Street wharf. Later Detective Sergt. Wills came along in launch and observing the cargo-boat being detained he went on board and learned the facts, afterwards taking one man and three women in custody.

At the Magistracy on Monday morning the arrested people were charged with the Kaifong, left Hongkong, March 28. larceny of the flour, Mr Skott, of Mesers H. Skott and Co., the consignee of the carge, proscouting. " Mr Roader Harris defended. The case was adjournd.

TRAGEDY OF AGRICULTURE. A Pleafor a Change in Land Policy.

Sir Gilbert Parker, M.P., contributes an interesting article on the subject of British device there to steen direct continued impossible tonvoid the conclusion, he says, that agriculture is almost ceasing to be regarded as a serious occupation in this country. He then gives the following table, showing the number of persons employed in England and Wales in proportion to the population :-- Employed. Population. 1841 ... 2,300,000 (McCulloch's estimato) 1871 ... 1,424,000 (Census)... 27,700,000 1891 ... 1,100,000 (do.) ... 24,000,000 1901 ... 988,000 (do.) ... 32,500,000 Commenting on these figures, Sir Gilbert Parker says :- "Here we have a decrease in the number of agricultural workers England and Wales, proportionate and absolute. In sixty years the population was doubled, the number of field workers was halred. "It needs no proof and commentator, nor the pungent phrase of the professions publicist, to drive home the facts here revealed. We have a large population which, evenly distributed, would show a considerable density per square mile our area. But it is not evenly distributed It is packed away in small areas, to the utmost limits of congestion, with an extreinity of suffering to those so crowded with infinite danger to the moral physical standard of the race. And the countryside, the source of our food suppli the reservoir from which the stamina and fibre of the untion must be replanished, if it is not to perish, is drained of the menwho should cultivate it, and who would cultivate it were it made worth their

If the countryman is to be kept upon the land, or attracted back to the land by the offer of a cureer, it must be a full cureer, a prospect with the fullest horizon. It is not enough to offer him the prospect of renting a bit of land; he must have before him the hope of becoming the owner of his land and of his home. If reform is not to be half-hearted-and half-hearted attempts never effected anything-the fullest play must be given to natural forces and natural desires. It is because the natural forces and natural desires of the peasantry have been repressed that our fields are desolate, it is because they have had full scope in. other countries that their country-sides are hives of industry. The desire of possession is of all forces the most potent, and for that reason it must be called to our aid. The land policy of the present Government appears to rest on the negation and repression of his natural force, Owing to the manipulation of the cotton market the expenses of German cotton manufacturers were increased by a sum of £7,500,000 during 1910. This increase in the price of raw material, according to careful official review published by the German Colonial Office, was the principal cause of the shortened hours, decrease the rate of wages, stoppage of spindles, and the resulting industrial distress of last year. The German, English, and French experiment, made with the object of rendering European factories independent of the American market, are exhaustively dis-PARIS AND EUROPE, MATERCE FREATE cussed in a White Book. The conclusion arrived at is that a sufficient supply of Asiatic cotton cannot be depended on, as the demand of the Amatic factories themselves for it is on the increase. Egyptian cotton cannot be depended upon owing to the increased expense of production. The time is not far distant when America, inatead of exporting raw material, will practically only export finished articles. The conclusion arrived at is that Germany can | Mausang, Hongkong, March 7. CEYLON :- W. M. Surra & Co., The look to her African Colonies alone for a supply of cheaper cotton. Oerman efforts to promote cotton growing in Africa hre encouraging. It is pointed out that although Germany's expenditure for this purpose up to 1909 is only a minth of that of England.

MOTION TO APPEAL.

Before the Chief Justice, Sir Francis Piggott, and Mr Justice Hazeland, sitting as a Full Court, at the Supreme Court this morning, Messrs P. Soffictti and Co., through the Hon-Mr H.-E. Pollock, K.C., instructed by Mr.P. M. Goldring, moved for leave to appeal against the judgement of Mr Justice Hazeland on March 29, in the case of Messrs W. G. Humphreys and Co. and P. Mr Pollock said they had filed a notice indulging in many gloomy forebod- of motion and had set out certain grounds ings.
